LUKE HOCHEVAR

2005 Roger Clemens Award/SEC Pitcher of the Year

Hochevar completed his three-year career as one of Tennessee's all-time most-decorated players. The right-hander posted a 15-3 record with a 2.26 ERA while leading the Vols to the 2005 College World Series and winning the Roger Clemens Award as the nation's best collegiate pitcher during his junior season. During UT's postseason run, Hochevar was selected by the Los Angeles Dodgers with the 40th overall pick in the MLB draft.

His 15 victories tied for the NCAA lead that season and also tied for first in UT's single-season record book. A consensus first-team All-America honoree (Baseball America, Louisville Slugger, Sports Weekly, NCBWA), Hochevar was also a finalist for the 2005 Golden Spikes and Brooks Wallace awards.

Hochevar was drafted 40th overall by the Los Angeles Dodgers in 2005 but did not sign. The Kansas City Royals then made him the No. 1 overall pick in the 2006 draft after he spent that spring playing independent ball with the Fort Worth Cats.

CHASE DOLLANDER

2022 Southeastern Conference Pitcher of the Year

In his first year with the program after playing his freshman season at Georgia Southern, Chase Dollander authored a stellar sophomore campaign in 2022, earning consensus first-team All-America honors while becoming just the second player in program history to be named SEC Pitcher of Year, joining former Major Leaguer and World Series Champion Luke Hochevar, who won the award in 2005.

The Evans, Georgia, native posted a perfect 10-0 record and led the country with a 0.80 WHIP. He was tabbed SEC Pitcher of the Week twice and finished second in the conference with 108 strikeouts while leading the league with a 2.39 ERA and holding opposing hitters to a .175 batting average. Drew Beam quietly emerged as one of the SEC's top arms in 2022, becoming the first pitcher and just the second player in program history to earn SEC Freshman of the Year honors, joining former Major League catcher J.P. Arencibia, who took home the award in 2005. The big right hander earned SEC Freshman of the Week honors twice and was also named the SEC Pitcher of the Week once after tossing a complete-game, two-hit shutout on the road against No. 3 Vanderbilt on April 3, earning him numerous national pitcher of the week honors, as well.

Beam was a unanimous Freshman All-American after his standout debut season in 2022. The Murfreesboro, Tennessee, native was a staple in UT's weekend rotation, posting an 8-1 record to go along with a 2.72 ERA over a team-high 15 starts. Beam held opposing hitters to a .186 batting average and had an impressive 0.93 WHIP. His 2.72 ERA ranked fourth best all-time among Tennessee freshmen. Five of his eight victories came during conference play, which was tied for third most in the SEC and led all freshmen.

Beam was also a semifinalist for the Dick Howser Trophy and played a major role in leading Tennessee to a program record 57 wins and the program's first-ever No. 1 ranking. In part to Beam's stellar efforts on the mound, the Vols captured the SEC Regular Season and SEC Tournament crowns for the first time since 1995, posting an incredible 25-5 record in league play, the best in program history.

VOLMANAC

The Early Years ...

Newspaper records trace Tennessee baseball history to 1897, the first year the university had an official baseball team. The earliest teams wore gold and white and played high schools, independent teams and visiting professional clubs in addition to other collegiate squads. The players traveled by train, tried out every year, paid their own expenses and received no scholarships.

The program was discontinued in the years of 1901, 1932-38 and 1943-46. They played their games at Wait Field at the corner of 15th Street and Cumberland Avenue on campus. The field also was where the football team played its games until moving to Shields-Watkins Field in 1921.

The earliest teams were managed by player/coaches as the student-body took it upon itself to put together a squad. They worked out at the Knoxville Y.M.C.A., or wherever a suitable field or lot could be found.

The Volunteers debuted in March 1897 with a resounding 15-4 win over Grant University on their way to a 6-6-1 record. Lack of available newspaper coverage in the two following years, 1898 and 1899, meant those game accounts and won-lost records were lost to the ages. The only information found were the names of the coaches and players for those two teams. T.R. Cornick guided Tennessee to its first winning season in 1900 with a 6-5 mark.

The teams, whose rosters numbered in the upper 20s and lower 30s to begin the season, were soon whittled down to 11-15 after some early contests.

Frank Moffett was the first real head coach Tennessee had. He was selected to lead the 1903 team by Manager Smith, and the college team was selected by a committee composed of Captain John E. Kelly, of Knox County, Coach McTeer, Professor A.F. Gilman and Dr. J.A. McColloch.

Moffett coached Tennessee for a total of nine seasons in three different stints between 1903 and 1919, compiling a 96-48-3 mark. He posted seven winning seasons.

In 1905, subsequent to the call for a nickname for the Tennesseans, one admirer suggested the Volunteers.

The 1908 and 1909 seasons saw Tennessee post its most successful two-year run for the next 40 years, posting 16 and 18 wins respectively, the most any Volunteer squad would have until the College World Series year of 1951 when that team notched 20 victories.

The 1908 team finished with a 16-3 mark, while placing five of its starting nine on the All-Southern Team. Those included pitcher S.S. Kipp, catcher J.F. Baker, third baseman S.R. Ware, left fielder A.A. Carlen and right fielder W. Baker.

As the 1909 team won 18 games, the season ended brilliantly, as Tennessee swept a doubleheader from Kentucky State to finish 18-5-1. Pitcher W. Sanders, left fielder A.A. Carlen and right fielder W.G. Baker were picked to the All-Southern Team.

Working to Gain Success ...

Z.G. Clevenger took over Tennessee from 1912-16, amassing a 41-36-4 record. He took the reigns of the program from Andrew A. Stone, who coached for one season following Moffett, who would return for his final coaching stint with the Volunteers during the 1918 and 1919 seasons.

Clevenger's first squad went 7-11-1 as the program struggled over the first three years before posting back-to-back winning campaigns in 1915 and 1916 with 10-6 and 13-5 marks respectively.

The 1913 Vols got a chance to play against one of Major League Baseball's powers of the day in the Philadelphia Athletics, led by Hall of Fame manager Connie Mack. Two of the Athletics' famous pitchers, Chief Bender and Jack Coombs, twirled as they toyed with the collegians in a 9-2 victory. Coombs won 21 games in 1912, while Bender would be a 21-game winner in 1913. That game highlighted a subpar 5-8-1 season.

Behind "the best infield it has had in several years," Tennessee was able to fashion a 10-6 mark in 1914. The Vols dropped an 8-1 decision to the New York Giants, thanks in part to six errors.

A pitcher by the name of D. Hutchison was the ace for Tennessee from 1912-1915, hurling a no-hitter in 1914 against Sewanee and then having a breakout year in 1915 with five of the team's 10 wins, including a one-hitter over Mercer.

The 13 wins posted by the 1916 team was a remarkable feat, as it battled through injuries, illnesses and suspensions. It was a good hitting club, as eight players hit .300 or better, including a .415 average by a player named Luck.

The slick fielding Frank Callaway, who played two seasons with the Philadelphia Athletics from 1921-22, starred at shortstop from 1916 through 1919.

Coach J.G. Bender took over the team for two years in 1917 and 1920, while Clevenger's assistant, Moffett, headed up the 1918 and 1919 teams. Tennessee posted winning seasons in three of those four years, as the squad continued to play exhibitions against both major and minor league teams.

The Vols opened the 1918 season with a 14-0 blanking by the Pittsburgh Pirates, but rebounded to post an 8-2 mark against collegiate competition. Coach Moffett, who had been around the baseball program since 1903, termed the performance of the 1918 squad, "the most successful season in the university's history."

In Moffett's last year with Tennessee in 1919, Sunday baseball was not permitted in the state. The team was strong on hitting and fielding but short on baserunning, as it finished 5-7-1.

J.G. Bender guided the Vols to a 13-7 mark in 1920 before M.B. Banks would lead the team for six years from 1921-26, finishing with a 39-42-3 mark.

The Vols moved to a new field in 1921, as the largest crowd to ever watch a Tennessee baseball game saw the Vols drop a 7-6 decision to the University of Cincinnati on dedication day. Eight errors proved to be UT's undoing.

Ben Cantwell, who spent 11 years as a pitcher in the Major Leagues, joined the Vols in 1921 and played for four years. He assisted Banks in 1925.

Following another subpar season in 1926, William S. Harkness coached the Vols for five seasons from 1927-31, going 19-30. But lack of interest and money led to the virtual disappearance of baseball from intercollegiate athletics at the university.

Between 1925-31, baseball had five losing seasons, one winning season and one .500 season. In 1931, shortages in traveling money forced the Vols to play nearby sandlot teams, the only college being Johnson Bible College. After 1931, with Tennessee carrying a 6-3 record, baseball disappeared until 1939.

From 1939-42, when the war brought disruption to the sport, the Vols had two winning, one losing and one .500 season for a combined record of 24-23. The poor seasons, plus a shift of support to football caused a decline in spectators and interest in general. The second World War caused the absence of baseball from Tennessee, from the years of 1943-46.

John Mauer coached the Vols from 1939-42, leading them to a 7-2 mark his first year. It was also the first year

A Trip to Omaha ...

Ike Peel, who played with the Vols from 1940-42, coached Tennessee's first baseball team in five seasons in 1947 and led the team to a 13-6 overall record and third-place finish in the Southeastern Conference.

Things would not be so pleasant for new coach S.W. "Cy" Anderson, who took over the program in 1948. None of his first three squads would finish better than a game below .500 or seventh in the SEC until the 1951 team broke out with the best season in school history to that time.

The year 1951 stands out as a milestone in the history of Tennessee baseball. It was during this campaign that Tennessee recorded the Southeastern Conference's best overall won-lost slate ever at that time at 20-3. The Vol team posted a conference record of 16-1 in winning Tennessee's lone pennant until the 1990s. The Vols also placed three members on the first-ever all-conference squad, as outfielder Bert Rechichar, catcher Andy Anderson and pitcher John Huffstetler made the team.

The Vols, who were declared champions of District III, represented the South and went on to place second in the NCAA's College World Series in Omaha, Neb., losing in the finals to Oklahoma by a 3-2 score. First baseman and pitcher Sid Hatfield was named the Most Outstanding Player at the College World Series.

The decade of the 1950s proved to be the finest since the 1910s, as the Volunteers finished above .500 for the 10-year period. Bernard O'Neil and legendary football player and assistant coach George Cafego each guided the Vols for five years from from 1953-62.

The 1953 season saw the emergence of third baseman B.B. Hopkins, who was Tennessee's first All-America player after he hit .414 in helping lead the Vols to a 14-8 record.

Wright Brings the Right Stuff ...

Shortly after the dawn of a new decade, Bill Wright, who would guide the Vols for the next 19 years, took over as the head baseball coach in 1963. One of the finest basketball prospects to ever come out of Knoxville, Wright graduated from Tennessee in 1947 and signed a baseball contract with the St. Louis Browns.

Wright's teams had 15 winning seasons, won three SEC Eastern Division titles and finished in the top three in the division in 15 of his 19 seasons. Nineteen of his former players signed professional contracts. From 1968-80, a span of 13 years, the longest in school history, his teams never finished below .500.

In only Wright's fourth season, he guided the Vols to a 20-win season and their first SEC Eastern Division title with an 11-2 mark and a 22-9 record overall. It would be another six years before Tennessee would come up with its second Eastern Division crown, as it finished with a 12-3 league mark and recorded 24 victories overall.

Following the 1970 season, three Vols wound up being selected in the first round of the 1971 January regular and secondary phases of the Major League draft. Pitcher Steve Raines, outfielder Sam Ewing and infielder Phil Garner all signed professional contracts. Also, outfielder Sam Ewing earned a spot on the Coaches All-America squad after batting .464, a school record.

A top-notch slugger in Bobby Tucker burst upon the scene in 1970 and became the only Vol to earn All-SEC honors all four years. He finished his career with the third-highest batting average in school history at .389 and slugged 34 home runs, which was a record that would stand for the next 20 years. He garnered All-America accolades in 1973 after batting .400 with 13 home runs and an .800 slugging percentage.

The 1975 and 1976 seasons were among the most successful under Wright as the Vols posted their first-ever 30-win seasons by winning 32 and 33 games, respectively. Leading the way offensively were two All-Americans in shortstop Condredge Holloway, who was a highly sought after athlete on both the diamond and gridiron, and pitcher/first baseman Rick Honeycutt, who went on to spend 20 years in the Major Leagues. Pitcher Mike Smithson, who played eight years in Major League Baseball, was also a force on the hill.

When Wright retired following the 1981 season, he had posted 408 of UT's 849 total baseball victories and was the third-winningest coach in SEC history behind Florida's Dave Fuller and Auburn's Paul Nix.

Stepping into a UT baseball coaching legend's shoes was Tennessee's first full time assistant coach, John Whited. Joining the Vol coaching staff in 1980, Whited led the Vols for six years from 1982-87, compiling a 145-109 record.

Whited, who had five straight winning seasons, guided the Vols to three straight SEC tournament appearances from 1982-84, finishing runner-up in 1982 and 1984. Outfielder Alan Cockrell earned All-America honors in 1984.

Mark Connor, a former pitching coach under Wright and New York Yankees pitching coach, led the Vols for two seasons but could achieve only limited success.

Vols Earn Three College World Series Berths in 11 Years ...

The highs were very high during the head coaching tenure of Rod Delmonico from 1990-2007.

The Wilmington, N.C., native's coaching philosophy centered around pitching, defense, speed and the hit-and-run.

Following his introduction in 1990, Delmonico's Vols posted nine 40-win seasons and two 50-win campaigns. His teams captured two Southeastern Conference titles, four SEC Eastern Division crowns and three SEC Eastern Division Tournament championships. UT made eight NCAA regional trips—including five regional finals—and punched three tickets to the College World Series.

Before Delmonico took charge, the Vols had never won 40 games in a season and had just one SEC title to their credit. UT had made only one College World Series appearance and hadn't been to the postseason in 38 years.

In only his second season, Tennessee posted its first-ever 40-win season, and four years into his regime the Volunteers were a force to be reckoned with on the national scene as they reached NCAA postseason play for the first time since 1952.

Delmonico, the 1994 and 1995 SEC Coach of the Year, added National Coach of the Year honors to his impressive résumé in 1995 after leading UT to its first College World Series since 1951, and his players also piled up awards and signing bonuses as the winningest coach in UT history guided the program.

He coached Olympians—pitcher R.A. Dickey and shortstop Augie Ojeda earned bronze medals with the USA Baseball team in the 1996 Summer Olympics in Atlanta—and a long list of All-Americans.

He also groomed a handful of SEC Players of the Year and nine members of Team USA, as well as a No. 1 overall draft choice and a National League batting champion.

In all, Delmonico had 73 Vols selected in the Major League draft 79 times, including 10 first-round picks, and 95 of his Tennessee players inked professional baseball contracts.

He had four Academic All-America selections, and 66 SEC Academic Honor Roll members come under his watch.

The numerous individual accolades reflected the success of the Vols on the field, as UT continued to enjoy the best stretch of baseball in school history since the dawn of the Delmonico era.

His squads first reached the pinnacle of college baseball during the 1994 and 1995 seasons, which saw Delmonico win back-to-back SEC championships and post seasons of 52 and 54 victories.

The 1995 campaign was special not just for the College World Series trip, as Delmonico also began to establish Rocky Top as a home for elite players that season. The 1995 squad boasted the National Player of the Year in Helton, who was also a three-time All-America pick. The Vols finished third in Omaha, Neb., and had a top-five finish in the national polls.

Players like Jeff Pickler, Chris Burke, Hochevar, James Adkins, J.P. Arencibia and Julio Borbon would follow in the footsteps of Helton, helping maintain the tradition established since Delmonico's hiring as a young, exuberant 32-year-old headman.

The Vols reached the regional finals in 1996 but fell one game short of reaching the CWS for the second straight year.

Tennessee reached regional action for the fifth straight year in 1997 but struggled in the SEC over the next three years despite boasting the 1998 SEC Player of the Year in second baseman Pickler. Pickler, who hit .500 in league action, was part of a team that slugged a team-record 108 home runs.

The Vols turned things around in 2001, as they reached the College World Series for the third time overall and the second time under Delmonico. UT, which finished tied for third at the CWS, was led by shortstop Burke, who was a consensus All-American and SEC Player of the Year.

A two-year absence from postseason play gave way to an NCAA Regional appearance in 2004. Then in 2005, Delmonico led a team that was picked to finish fifth in the SEC Eastern Division all the way to Omaha for the fourth College World Series berth in school history. During their charge to Omaha, the Vols set single-season records for hits, doubles and batters struck out.

Tennessee's 2005 postseason honors haul was led by consensus All-American and Roger Clemens Award winner Hochevar—who recorded a school-record 154 strikeouts and tied for the NCAA lead with 15 victories and would become the program's first No. 1 overall selection in the 2006 MLB Draft.

Fellow juniors Eli Iorg and Chase Headley also garnered All-America honors, and rookies Adkins, Arencibia and Borbon were each tabbed as Freshman All-America selections. In addition, Hochevar and Arencibia were named the 2005 SEC Pitcher and Freshman of the Year, respectively.

The 2007 draft was a historical one for Tennessee, as Arencibia (21st overall), Borbon (35th overall) and Adkins (39th overall) were each selected in the first round. It marked the fourth time in school history that multiple Vols were drafted in the first round, and it made Tennessee one of just five schools ever to have three players drafted prior to the second round in a single draft.

Back to the Future ...

On June 15, 2011, Tennessee brought a familiar face back to Knoxville to lead the program back to its rightful place among the nation's elite. The Vols hired Dave Serrano, former head coach at UC Irvine and Cal State Fullerton.

A veteran of seven College World Series and one of just then-11 coaches to lead two different programs to Omaha, Serrano arrived at Rocky Top with a career record of 289-139-1 (.675) in seven seasons as a Division I head coach. After leading UC Irvine to the 2007 CWS in his third year at the helm of the Anteaters, he moved on to Cal State Fullerton where he averaged 43.75 wins per season in his four campaigns with the Titans, including an appearance in Omaha in 2009.

Serrano, returned to the site of his first Division I job, as he served two seasons as an assistant coach at Tennessee from 1995-96, following seven years at Cerritos Junior College. His first taste of Omaha came as a Volunteer as he helped lead a Big Orange squad featuring all-time UT greats Todd Helton and R.A. Dickey to the College World Series for the first time in over four decades in 1995. During Serrano's first stint in Knoxville, Tennessee posted an impressive 97-36 (.729) record, including a school-record 54 wins in 1995.

Since his return, the baseball program witnessed an improved emphasis on recruitment and development, wit six consecutive Top-20 recruiting classes secured for Rocky Top since 2012.

The Orange and White's first campaign under Serrano saw it record wins over half of the 2011 College World Series field, downing No. 16 Texas, No. 10 South Carolina, No. 4 Florida and Vanderbilt. The Vols also defeated No. 2 Kentucky, handing the Wildcats their first loss of the season, and No. 19 Georgia to give them victories over five different ranked teams in 2012. The team roared out of the gates, winning their first seven games to get off to the then-second best start in school history. That 7-0 record also marked the best by any UT skipper to start his Tennessee managerial career, topping the previous record of 4-0 last attained over 100 years prior in 1911.

Following his first season at Tennessee, Serrano was awarded the honor of serving as the head coach of the 2012 USA Baseball Collegiate National Team, which he led to a 12-5 record and a bronze medal at Honkbal Week in the Netherlands. Serrano then led the Collegiate National Team into uncharted territory as it became the first U.S. squad to travel to Cuba to take on its national team in 16 years. The series continued in the Netherlands where they split two more decisions as the U.S. went 5-2 during Honkbal Week to claim the bronze.

Serrano's second season featured one of the youngest teams in the nation with a NCAA-leading 18 true freshmen on the roster. The Vols posted a series victory over No. 13 Kentucky and wins over No. 14 Arkansas and perennial power No. 20 Arizona State in 2013.

In 2014, Serrano again made Tennessee history and led the Vols to their best season start in program history, going 12-0 to start the year. The team stayed the course, jumping into Top 25 rankings for several weeks during the season, to finish with a 31-23 record and make their first SEC Tournament appearance since 2007.

After finishing the regular season just shy of .500 (24-26) in 2015, Serrano led his Volunteers to their second consecutive SEC Tournament appearance, marking the first time for UT to make postseason runs in back-to-back seasons since 2004-05.

In 2015, the Tennessee baseball squad also posted its highest GPA in program history, combining for a 3.12 GPA. Entering the 2016 season under Serrano, the Volunteers also posted a 1.000 APR, another record for the baseball program on Rocky Top.

To end the 2016 season, Tennessee (29-28, 9-22 SEC) clinched a postseason bid to the SEC Baseball Tournament for the third consecutive year. The tournament berth marked the first time for the Vols to appear in the league's postseason tournament in three straight seasons (2014-16) since 1995-97.

In his final season, Tennessee finished with a 27-25 overall record, including a 7-21 mark in Southeastern Conference play. The program also recorded its highest-ever multi-year APR score with a 979. That stands as a 14-point improvement from the previous year and a 45-point improvement from three years ago, when it was at 934.

During his six seasons guiding the Vols, Serrano coached 20 Tennessee baseball players who went on to be selected in the MLB Draft, including first-round picks Nick Senzel (Cincinnati, 2016) and Christin Stewart (Detroit, 2015) as well as Arizona Diamondbacks pitcher Zack Godley.

A New Era Begins...

On June 7, 2017, Tennessee ushered in "A New Era" with the hiring of Tony Vitello. Known as one of the nation's best recruiters, Vitello took over as head coach following stops as an assistant coach/recruiting coordinator at Arkansas (2014-17), TCU (2011-13) and Missouri (2004-10).

A native of St. Louis, Missouri, Vitello developed a reputation as one of the elite recruiters on the college baseball landscape, having assembled eight top-15 signing classes--including America's top-rated crop of talent in 2014. In November 2016, D1Baseball.com ranked Vitello No. 2, and tops in the SEC, on its list of the top 30 recruiting coordinators in America.

During a full-time, Division I coaching career spanning just 14 years, Vitello has signed and developed six first-round MLB Draft picks and a handful of players who advanced to the big leagues. That list includes Andrew Benintendi, Brandon Finnegan, Kyle Gibson, All-Star Aaron Crow, Gold Glove Award winner and four-time All-Star Ian Kinsler and four-time All-Star and two-time Cy Young Award winner Max Scherzer.

Vitello is also a proven winner, making 12 NCAA tournament appearances during his time as a Division I assistant coach, including three trips to the NCAA Super Regionals (2006, 2012, 2015) and one to the College World Series (2015).

In his first season at Tennessee, Vitello led the Vols to a 29-27 overall record and engineered an impressive turnaround from 2017 in SEC play. After winning just seven conference games in 2017, Vitello helped lead UT to 12 wins and three series victories in conference play, including a sweep of Alabama and series victories over ranked foes Texas A&M and Kentucky. Tennessee posted a 9-6 record at home in league play, which was the program's best since 2005.

UT's offensive numbers also saw a significant rise in Vitello's first season on Rocky Top as the Vols increased their season totals in runs, hits, home runs, extra-base hits, RBI, slugging percentage, walks and on-base percentage in 2018 despite losing their top two hitters from 2017.

Vols End Postseason Drought...

In Tony Vitello's second season at the helm, he was able to lead Tennessee to the NCAA Chapel Hill Regional, the program's first postseason appearance since 2005, ending a 13-year drought.

The Volunteers finished the year with a 40-21 record, including a 14-16 mark in Southeastern Conference play to finish third in the Eastern Division. The 40 overall victories and 14 SEC wins were both the most for the program since 2005.

UT got off to the best start in program history by winning its first 15 games of the year. The Big Orange posted shutouts in each of their first four games while not allowing a run for 41.0 consecutive innings to begin the season, both program records. The Vols finished with 26 non-conference wins, the most since 2000, and posted their highest finish in the SEC Eastern Division since 2005.

Tennessee was ranked among the Top 25 for 10 weeks, due in large part to one of the country's top pitching staffs. The Orange & White tied a program record with 10 shutouts, including three in conference play, and racked up 551 strikeouts (second most in program history). UT had a 3.59 ERA and held opposing hitters to a .239 batting average (lowest since 1996). At season's end, Tennessee's pitching staff was ranked among the Top 25 nationally in shutouts (second), strikeout-to-walk ratio (ninth), WHIP (10th), walks allowed per nine innings (13th) and ERA (19th). The Big Orange also boasted one of the top fielding teams in the nation, finishing with a program-best .979 fielding percentage that ranked 14th in the country and third in the SEC.

The Vols also had one of their most productive seasons in recent memory at the plate, finishing the year with 378 runs scored, 173 extra-base hits, 53 home runs and a .407 slugging percentage – all top marks since 2010. They also led all Power 5 programs with 108 stolen bases, the most in a single season since 2005. Junior speedster Jay Charleston finished the year with 41 steals, becoming the first SEC player to steal 40-plus bases in a season since VFLs Chris Burke (49) and Stevie Daniel (46) both accomplished the feat back in 2001.

Tennessee finished as runner-up in the NCAA Chapel Hill Regional to host North Carolina after defeating UNC Wilmington and Liberty to reach the regional final.

Promising Season Cut Short...

In year three under Tony Vitello, the Volunteers got off to another incredible start by winning their first 13 games and rising as high as No. 11 in the national rankings. The Big Orange were putting up historic offensive numbers, leading the nation in runs (180) while also ranking second in home runs (31) through 17 games.

Unfortunately, after a 15-2 start and conference play about to begin, the season was halted and eventually canceled due to the Coronavirus (COVID-19) global health crisis.

Tennessee finished the season ranked No. 20 in the USA Today Top 25, it's highest final ranking since 2005 (No. 7/8). However, the abrupt ending to the year was extremely disappointing as the Vols looked to have all the pieces in place to return to the NCAA Tournament for the second straight year and make a deep postseason run.

Vols Return to Omaha...

Tennessee capped an historic season with its fifth trip to Omaha for the 2021 College World Series. The Vols magical season included a host of memorable moments and achievements that hadn't been seen at UT in many years.

Under the guidance of fourth-year head coach Tony Vitello, Tennessee won 50 games for just the third time in program history, finishing with a 50-18 record. UT also hosted an NCAA regional for the first time since 2005 and hosted its first-ever super regional, sweeping LSU to punch its ticket to Omaha. Tennessee's 50 wins were tied for the most in the country in 2021.

UT won its first SEC Eastern division title since 1997 after posting a 20-10 record in league play and winning eight of its 10 conference series, including all five series on the road for the first time ever. The Vols also made their first appearance in the SEC Tournament Championship game since 1995 and advanced to back-to-back NCAA regionals for the first time since 2004 and 2005.

Vitello was named the 2021 National Coach of the Year by the National Collegiate Baseball Writers Association and Perfect Game, becoming just the second head coach in program history to earn that honor, joining legendary Vols' skipper Rod Delmonico, who was named National Coach of the Year by Baseball America in 1995.

Tennessee was ranked for the entire 2021 season and checked in as high as No. 2 in the polls on multiple occasions—the program's highest ranking ever. The Vols set a program record with 16 road victories and hit 98 home runs—second most in school history. Tennessee also had five players earn All-America honors in 2021, another program record.

Building a Brand Name...

Tennessee took the college baseball world by storm during its historic 2022 campaign, which featured one of the most dominant regular seasons in the history of the sport. The Volunteer squad claimed the first No. 1 ranking in program history on March 21 and, after a sweep of top-ranked Ole Miss in Oxford, Mississippi, the Big Orange were a unanimous No. 1-ranked squad a week later. UT was ranked No. 1 in at least one poll during 12 weeks of the season and spent 10 weeks as the nation's unanimous top-ranked team.

A team built to win in every facet of the game with dominant pitching, hitting and defense, certainly made a splash to start the season. The Vols won their first eight games to kick off the campaign. After suffering their first loss of the year, the Big Orange reeled off a program-record 23 straight victories to finish non-conference play and start the SEC slate.

The Vols amassed the best start to conference play for an SEC team in league history, winning 18 of their first 19 games and tying the 2000 South Carolina Gamecocks for the fastest team to get to 40 wins in SEC history, doing so in just 44 games. Tennessee only had two losing streaks all season, and both were just two-game skids coming against Tennessee Tech in a midweek, wood-bat contest at Smokies Stadium in Kodak, Tennessee, followed by a loss to Alabama, then again in a weekend series at Kentucky.

UT finished the year with a program record 57 wins en route to winning SEC Regular Season and SEC Tournament titles.

The Vols led the nation in numerous statistical categories while setting a handful of program records along the way, including new marks for home runs (158), runs scored (613), RBIs (574), slugging percentage (.604), ERA (2.51), WHIP (1.00), opponent batting average (.199), strikeouts (695), strikeouts/nine innings (10.5) and walks allowed/nine innings (2.48), among others.

UT was one win away from making its second consecutive College World Series appearance but fell to Notre Dame in the Knoxville Super Regional. However, the Big Orange won both the SEC Regular Season and SEC Tournament championships for the first time since 1995. The Vols won the SEC Regular Season title by six games, and the eastern division crown by 10 games, both of which are the largest margins in conference history.

Tennessee became the first NCAA Division I team since at least 1972 to lead the country in both home runs and ERA. The Vols' 158 long balls shattered the previous program record of 107 while ranking fourth in NCAA Division I history, including the most by any team in the BBCOR bat era (since 2011).

Head coach Tony Vitello was named the Perfect Game National Coach of the Year for the second season in a row and was also tabbed as the Southeast Region Coach of the Year by the ABCA. The Vols set a program record with nine players earning postseason All-America honors, including four first-team selections, which was also a school record. Tennessee had four players earn Freshmen All-America honors, as well.

Strong Second Half Propels Vols Back to Omaha..

A strong second-half surge propelled Tennessee to another successful season in 2023, as the Volunteers won 11 of their final 15 SEC games before embarking on an impressive postseason run to reach the Men's College World Series for the second time in three years.

Following a disappointing first half of conference play, the Big Orange caught fire during their final five SEC series to secure a No. 2 seed in the NCAA Clemson Regional before knocking off Charlotte and No. 4 national seed Clemson to advance to the program's third straight super regional. Once again, the Vols had to go on the road, but were able to dispose of Southern Miss in three games to book the program's sixth trip to Omaha.

UT went on to win its first CWS game since 2001 with a 6-4 victory over Stanford, snapping a six-game losing streak in Omaha.

As has become the norm under pitching coach Frank Anderson, Tennessee boasted one of the country's top pitching staffs and finished the year ranked among the top five nationally in ERA (2nd – 3.63), WHIP (2nd – 1.16), strikeout-to-walk ratio (2nd – 4.03), shutouts (3rd – 9), total strikeouts (3rd – 738), strikeouts per nine innings (3rd – 11.7), hits allowed per nine innings (4th – 7.51) and walks allowed per nine innings (4th – 2.90).

The Vols went on to have a program-record six pitchers selected in the 2023 MLB Draft, led by first rounder Chase Dollander, who became the highest drafted player in the Tony Vitello era after going No. 9 overall to the Colorado Rockies. In total, Tennessee had eight players chosen in the 2023 draft, which was tied for the second most in program history, trailing only the 2022 draft when UT had 10 players selected.

Tennessee had a pair of players earn All-America status in pitchers Andrew Lindsey and AJ Russell. Lindsey was tabbed a third-team selection by Baseball America and Russell garnered third-team honors from the NCBWA. Russell also picked up Freshman All-America honors from the NCBWA, D1Baseball.com and Baseball America to become the seventh player in program history to be named a Freshman All-American by three separate outlets.

LEGEND OF THE VOLUNTEER

What's a Volunteer? Not your run of the mill school nickname, the proud legacy of the Volunteer calls Tennessee student-athletes to compete at an elevated standard when the stakes are highest. A Volunteer is the bravest breed of human from the boldest nation on Earth, fiercely proud to call Tennessee home whether the battle lies within its borders or in a land far away.

"Give me a thousand Tennesseans, and I'll whip any other thousand men on the globe!"
— President Andrew "Old Hickory" Jackson

The First Volunteers

In the aftermath of the Declaration of Independence, Americans were determined to create a nation that was free of the evils that had required them to resort to revolution. Among these was the fear of a large standing army. Such a force could be used to impose the will of an evil monarch and was therefore a threat to individual liberties. Instead, they would rely upon a volunteer army, citizen soldiers who would be called into service at times of crisis to serve their country.

When the people who would later be known as Tennesseans were first asked to volunteer for such an army, they had been living along the upper tributaries of the Tennessee River, near modern day Elizabethton. The call went out for volunteers to gather at Sycamore Shoals in September 1780 and march across the Smoky Mountains to meet this British threat. When finally assembled, the volunteers totaled almost 1,000 men, virtually the entire fighting force of the settlements. These "Overmountain Men" defeated the British at King's Mountain to turn the tide of the war in favor of the fledgling nation.

The tradition of the Tennessee Volunteer was thus already initiated when, in the War of 1812, the nation once again went to war. As they had done over 30 years before, Tennesseans responded enthusiastically. Instead of the 3,500 troops requested, 25,000 Tennesseans joined, participating in battles from the Canadian border to the Gulf of Mexico.

Old Hickory

Earlier in the War of 1812 the British torched Washington. The Tennessee Volunteers made sure New Orleans would suffer no such fate. Under future President Andrew "Old Hickory" Jackson at the Battle of New Orleans, Tennessee Volunteers took part in the greatest victory of the war when they helped to defeat an army of crack British regulars. Facing more than twice their number, the Tennessee Volunteers joined a New Orleans militia, a group of former Haitian slaves fighting as free men and a band of outlaws headed by the notorious pirate Jean Lafitte. Thanks in no small part to the deadly Volunteer riflemen of Tennessee, the U.S. took a lopsided victory where more than 2,000 British were killed or wounded compared to eight killed and 13 wounded on the American side.

Jacob Hartsell, a captain in the 2nd East Tennessee militia, was among the Tennesseans who took part in the battle. He was so inspired by his fellow Tennesseans that he wrote a heroic poem in their honor. Entitled "The Brave Volunteer," this poetic journal entry is the earliest known written reference to Tennesseans as Volunteers.

Volunteers at the Alamo

Two decades later, Tennesseans advanced their reputation as volunteers when, unsolicited, several hundred made the journey south to assist the Texans in their war for independence from Mexico. The best known of these was David Crockett. His already legendary status was only enhanced by his dramatic death at the Alamo in 1836.

But before the Alamo fell, 33 Tennesseans, the largest number of defenders provided by any state—nearly four times as many as from Texas—kept Mexican General Santa Anna's overwhelming army at bay for 13 days against unbelievable odds. On March 6, 1836, the brave Tennessee Volunteers and the other Alamo defenders were overrun and breathed their last.

However, the crucial days the Volunteers slowed down the Mexican army gave another Tennessean, Sam Houston, enough time to gallop through Texas raising an army to defend what would become the Lone Star State. This army defeated Santa Anna in no small part because of the contributions of Tennessee's Volunteers. There can be no doubt Texas owes a great debt of gratitude for its statehood to the fierce men from Tennessee.

Tennessee... The Volunteer State

But Tennessee's status as the "Volunteer State" was solidified 10 years later when the United States War Department called for volunteers in the War with Mexico. Moving quickly to meet their allotted quota of 2,800 recruits, state officials were overwhelmed by 30,000 volunteers.

It was during the Spanish-American War that the students of the University of Tennessee began to lay official claim to the Volunteer nickname for themselves. In 1897, the student yearbook was christened, The Volunteer.

In 1902, the Atlanta Constitution used the term "Volunteers" to describe the football team when recounting a game between UT and Georgia Tech. However, the university sports teams continued to operate without an official nickname until 1905. In March of that year an article in the Knoxville Journal announced a nickname had been chosen.

"One of the admirers of the old school has suggested 'the Volunteers'," the newspaper reported. In classic understatement the report concludes, "The name sounds good, and it is likely that it will stick."

The Volunteer Spirit

There have been other men who symbolized the indomitable Tennessee Volunteer spirit on and off the field of battle. One of the most famous proved to be Alvin York in World War I. York was drafted and nearly single-handedly captured 132 Germans, took out about 35 machine guns which had been decimating his battalion and killed no fewer than 25 of the enemy, according to officers' reports. Indeed, Marshall Ferdinand Foch said of York's heroism, "What you did was the greatest thing accomplished by any private soldier of all the armies of Europe."

Humbly, the reluctant hero returned home to Tennessee as the toast of the nation. Yet York wasn't interested in celebrity or cashing in on his fame, saying, "This uniform ain't for sale."

Tennessee Volunteers took part in every theater of World War II, whether helping secure the deadly beaches of Normandy to working in their own backyard in Oak Ridge on The Manhattan Project and the atomic bomb that brought an end to war in the Pacific.

Not every Volunteer story was forged in wartime. Part of the Volunteer legend deals with self-sacrifice for the good of others. Take Tennessee train engineer Casey Jones, for instance. Steaming full-bore in the early morning in Vaughan, Miss., in 1900, Jones saw boxcars in the distance on the tracks in front of him. When it became apparent the passenger train he was driving was destined for a catastrophic collision, Jones was faced with a desperate choice—he could jump out of the engine and save his life before the crash or he could stay in the engine and try to slow the train enough to save more passengers' lives. After ordering his fireman to jump from the racing locomotive and save himself, Jones died that day saving dozens of lives in an amazing display of self-sacrifice. But his story and heroism live in the ballad devoted to the Tennessean who saved so many lives that day in his casket of splintered wood and twisted steel.

The legend of the Tennessee Volunteer also applies to great minds who create items of great cultural value in interesting ways. The first constitution ever written by white men in America was drafted in 1772 by the Watauga Association near present day Elizabethton. Take the example of the Cherokee silversmith Sequoyah, the only known man in the history of the world to single-handedly create an alphabet, the first written language for a Native American people.

Similarly, Tennessean Alex Haley became one of America's most famous authors after recounting the experience of African-Americans in his highly-acclaimed "Roots." Haley chose to make his home in Norris, just a short drive from the University of Tennessee.

Every time since the nation's birth to this very day, when the U.S. needs an extraordinary effort to brush back the dark curtain of hopelessness, the Tennessee Volunteers are called. The bravery, heroism, wisdom and ferocity of the Volunteers place them on a pedestal of great American legends.

TENNESSEE'S UNCLE CHARLEY

Charlie Barthell Moran, also known simply as "Uncle Charley," began his sporting career at the University of Tennessee in the late 1800s and later went on to make a name for himself as a professional baseball player, a major-league umpire and a successful college football coach.

Born in Nashville, Tenn., on Feb. 22, 1879, Moran became a star halfback on Tennessee's 1897 football team but left the university during his first year of study there. Upon his departure from The Hill, Moran arrived at Bethel College, where he both coached and played on that school's football team.

After graduating, he became an assistant to legendary football coach Glenn "Pop" Warner at the Carlisle Indian Institute, where he coached the great Jim Thorpe. Moran also played minor-league baseball during his time at Carlisle.

Shortly thereafter he found his way into the ranks of professional baseball as a pitcher with the National League's St. Louis Cardinals. Moran threw 24 innings in just three games with the Cardinals before an arm injury ended his pitching career. He did, however, return to the club in 1908 and played in 21 games as a catcher.

By the following year, Moran was the head football coach at Texas A&M, where he spent the next six seasons while also working as a minor-league baseball umpire. He guided the Aggies to a 38-8-4 (.800) record from 1909-14.

By 1918, Moran's umpiring career had taken him to the National League, where he remained through the 1939 campaign. During his NL tenure, Uncle Charley was called upon to work the 1927, 1929, 1933 and 1938 World Series.

His ascension to the highest level of professional umpiring did not mark the ultimate conclusion of his collegiate football coaching career, however. In 1919 he took over the "Praying Colonels" gridiron program at Centre College. And in 1921, Centre snapped mighty Harvard's 25-game win streak (which included a 1920 Rose Bowl triumph), upsetting the Ivy League powerhouse, 6-0. In five seasons at Centre, Moran posted a 42-6-1 record and went undefeated in 1919 and 1921.

Moran took over the football-coaching reigns at Bucknell in 1924 and posted a 20-9-2 record in three years there.

During the 1927 season, he assisted Ed Weir on the coaching staff of the NFL's Frankford Yellowjackets.

Moran ended his coaching career at Catawba College in North Carolina, leading the school to a 23-10-5 record from 1930-33. His overall college coaching record stands at 122-33-12, giving him an impressive .766 career winning percentage. He is still remembered for his inspirational pregame pep talks and inspiring locker room prayers.

Moran died June 14, 1949, in Horse Cave, Ky. In 1951, the Associated Press voted Centre's 1921 upset-win over Harvard as the biggest upset of the 20th century.

EARLY HISTORY OF TENNESSEE BASEBALL

Tennessee students have a long heritage of athleticism. Today, more than any other sport, football attracts the interest of students and other sports enthusiasts. However, in 1887 no football team was in existence and track and field events had not been held. Basketball was unknown. Instead students played baseball.

Well into the 1900's baseball attracted great interest. As late as 1910 baseball ranked ahead of football in prestige for participants and attendance of spectators.

Some semblance of record keeping regarding official teams began in 1897 with the publishing of the Volunteer Yearbooks. Earliest yearbooks included photographs of baseball teams with limited information regarding their members and results of game.

Official Athletic Association records were not compiled until after World War I, beginning in 1920 with the formation of the Southern Conference.

The listing included here are names of individuals know to have been members of a team and their participation is documented. Although several in this listing may have received the coveted lettermen's "T", this list is intended to acknowledge their participation only.

For the first time in Tennessee baseball history, a chance to play in the postseason came to the Volunteer State. After being conceded the District III Championship, the 16-1 Southeastern Conference champion Tennessee Volunteers made the trip to the fifth annual College World Series in Omaha, Neb.

Tennessee was led by pitcher/first baseman John Huffstetler. Huffstetler finished the regular season a perfect 8-0 and led the team with a .455 batting average.

The Vols' first All-America selection in 1953, B. B. Hopkins, played the hot corner, at third base.

As often happens, it is not the stars that stand out during crunch time, but it is the unsung heroes of the season that step to the forefront. Such was the case with the Vols' backup utility man and pitcher Sid Hatfield, who proved to be the spark that guided UT to the championship game. Hatfield received the Most Outstanding Player Award after tossing the third shutout in College World Series history, a 2-0 victory over Springfield in the third round.

Hatfield added to his legacy by tossing eight innings of relief against Oklahoma in the championship game. He did, however, walk eight Sooners, which is the third most walks issued in a championship game.

Tennessee started on a down note, as it dropped the first game to Utah, 7-1. The Vols were held to four hits, as Hopkins drove in the only run. Huffstetler, who struck out eight in the complete game effort, suffered the loss while giving up just six hits.

The Vols gutted it out and won their next four games to reach the finals. UT used a three-run seventh inning to oust Princeton the next day with a hard-fought 3-2 decision. Billy Joe Bowman tossed a six-hitter, and Hopkins once again led Tennessee with two hits.

After Hatfield's four-hit shutout of Springfield in which Bert Rechichar and Herky Payne had two hits apiece, Tennessee would win a doubleheader the next day to advance to the national championship game.

In the first contest, the Vols exacted revenge over Utah, 5-4. Bill O'Kain threw the fourth straight complete game for the Vols against the Utes, allowing just five hits. Hatfield came off the bench to collect two hits, joining Rechichar to pace the team.

In the second tilt, Tennessee rallied from a 6-2 deficit to post a 9-8 victory over the USC Trojans. The Vols tied the game 6-6 in the fourth, took a 9-6 lead in the sixth and withstood a two-run Trojan rally in the bottom of the frame to hold on for a 9-8 win. Despite collecting just five hits, Bill Asbury and relief pitcher Bowman drove in two runs each. Bowman got the win after tossing 7 2/3 innings of relief as Tennessee advanced to face Oklahoma, which swept its way to the finals.

Tennessee jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the fifth, but let it slip away as the Sooners scored single runs in the sixth, seventh and eighth innings for the 3-2 win. Asbury collected two of Tennessee's three hits, while Hatfield logged eight innings of relief in taking the loss.

With a dramatic 3-1 victory over Oklahoma State in the Mideast Regional finals, the Tennessee Volunteers returned to play in the College World Series for the first time in 44 years. The Vols' 44-year absence from the College World Series was the longest span between appearances by any team in college baseball history. In 1951, UT finished runner-up to Oklahoma. Tennessee earned the 1995 trip after defeating the Cowboys in 11 innings.

Tennessee, the fifth seed in the College World Series, won its first game, 3-1, versus the No. 4 seed Clemson Tigers. Three-time All-American and national player of the year Todd Helton turned in a complete game pitching performance against the Tigers, allowing one run on four hits with two walks and nine strikeouts. Scott Schroeffel went 2-for-4 with a home run, double and two runs scored.

The Vols were knocked into the loser's bracket after eventual national champion Cal State Fullerton pounced on UT, 11-1, in the second round. Helton drove in the only Vol run of the game in the bottom of the first.

Tennessee bounced back to stay alive in the double-elimination tournament with an impressive 6-2 victory over the tradition-laden Stanford Cardinal. Ryan Meyers turned in perhaps one of the best pitching performances of his career as he went the distance, allowing two runs on six hits with seven strikeouts. Helton and Travis Copley each hit solo home runs, but it was Schroeffel's 3-for-4 night with two home runs, three runs scored and three RBIs that put the Vols in the semifinals against the Titans.

Once again, though, the Titans proved to have too much offense as they jumped on UT for seven runs in the first. The deficit was too much to overcome, and Cal State Fullerton won 11-0, rolling on to the title.

Schroeffel was named to the all-tournament team after batting .533 (8-for-15) with three home runs, a double and four RBI.

Stevie Daniel's grand slam highlighted a five-run eighth inning as the Tennessee Volunteers advanced to their third College World Series with a 6-3 win over the East Carolina Pirates at the Kinston (N.C.) Super Regional.

It was the second rally in as many days, as the Vols scored four in the ninth to win the first game of the Super Regional.

Once in Omaha, Tennessee made the most of its trip, as it posted a 2-2 mark to tie Cal State Fullerton for third place while setting a CWS record for highest team batting average (.394).

Three Vols played well enough to garner All-College World Series honors as third baseman Kris Bennett, shortstop Chris Burke and left fielder Jeff Christensen were placed on the squad.

Tennessee's first game against Miami (Fla.) turned into a slugfest, the likes of which had never been seen before at Rosenblatt Stadium. The Hurricanes jumped out to a 9-0 lead after three innings and withstood a Vol comeback to post a 21-13 win. No fewer than five single-game records were broken while two more were tied. The two teams played the longest nine-inning game in CWS history at four hours and 21 minutes, in addition to breaking the marks for most combined hits (41), wild pitches (7), at-bats (89) and earned runs (34).

Tennessee collected a season-high 21 hits, as seven Vols pounded out at least two hits, including three with three hits. Brandon Hopkins led the way with five RBI, while Kris Bennett added three.

The Vols' fortunes would turn for the better in an elimination game as they faced conference foe Georgia. Bennett set a CWS record by going 6-for-6 and tied the RBI record with seven as Tennessee advanced with a 19-12 win. Jeff Christensen tied the runs scored record with five while Chris Burke hit an inside-the-park home run.

Behind a solid pitching effort exhibited by Wyatt Allen, the Vols turned back the USC Trojans, 10-2, to force a rematch with the Hurricanes. Allen worked eight solid innings, allowing two runs on six hits. Ryan Case slugged a three-run home run and Christensen drove in four runs to pace the offense.

Miami, the hottest team entering the CWS, kept swinging hot bats, as it pounded out 13 hits in a 12-6 win over Tennessee to advance to the title game against Stanford. Tennessee built a 4-0 lead after three innings, but saw the game slip away as the Hurricanes scored 10 runs over the next two innings en route to the victory. Hopkins and Dan Wilson each had two of Tennessee's 11 hits.

The 2005 season marked Tennessee's third trip to Omaha under head coach Rod Delmonico, and the Vols drew an opening-round matchup against a familiar foe, SEC champion Florida. Tennessee trailed by a score of 6-1 heading into the seventh inning versus the Gators, and the Vols then put together a three-run rally to pull within two runs. Florida's bullpen proved too strong, however, and UT was unable to mount a final scoring charge.

The Gators claimed the victory by a final score of 6-4, but could have posted a much higher run total were it not for three outstanding outfield plays by All-America right fielder Eli Iorg. The junior from Knoxville made national highlight reels with a spectacular leaping catch over the wall to take away what would have been a grand slam. While many of the 21,546 in attendance were left in awe of Iorg's athletic prowess, the play was just one of many that the Volunteers' faithful had grown accustomed to seeing throughout the season. Iorg closed out the year as the SEC leader in stolen bases while ranking second in RBIs and third in batting average. He also led Tennessee in hits and home runs.

Dropped into the CWS loser's bracket, the Vols found themselves matched up against Arizona State in the tournament's first elimination game on Sun., June 19. Freshman All-America catcher J.P. Arencibia gave UT an early 1-0 lead over the Sun Devils when he hit a solo home run in the bottom of the first inning. The blast was Arencibia's first career postseason homer and extended his UT freshman home run record to 14 (three more than the previous record-holder, Todd Helton, hit as a freshman in 1993).

An RBI double by junior centerfielder Josh Alley in the fifth inning gave Tennessee a 2-0 lead, but ASU plated its first run in the seventh before exploding for three runs in the eighth to take a late 4-2 lead. That closed out the game's scoring, and Tennessee saw its outstanding 2005 season come to an end.

"For me as a coach, to see these men grow up and see how each has improved (this year) has been a blessing to me," UT head coach Rod Delmonico said after the game. "This is the best year I've had as a coach. What this team has meant to me will be hard to top."

How could the Vols' 2005 campaign not be considered special? The club whose offensive ability was questioned by many entering the year ended up standing atop the final SEC statistical rankings in batting average, slugging percentage, on-base percentage, runs scored, hits, RBIs, doubles, triples, total bases and stolen bases.

In the final national college baseball rankings, the Vols turned in a consensus top-10 season. Three of the polls tabbed UT as the nation's No. 8 club at season's end, marking the school's highest final ranking since 2001.

The 2021 season was one of the best in program history. Led by NCBWA National Coach of the Year Tony Vitello, the Volunteers posted an impressive 50-18 record and booked their first trip to Omaha since 2005. UT was ranked as high as No. 2 in the nation entering the College World Series - its highest ranking in program history - after dominating its Super Regional matchup against LSU.

Tennessee opened the CWS with a matchup against the No. 8 seed Virginia Cavaliers, who were riding a hot finish and postseason run to Omaha. Unfortunately for the Vols, the story of the game was missed opportunities. UT had two runners on base with no outs in the first, fifth and sixth innings, but was unable to capitalize and ended up leaving eight runners on base for the game.

A third-inning solo home run by Logan Michaels opened the scoring and a four-run seventh inning all but put the game away for Virginia as starting pitcher Andrew Abbott was dominant on the mound, tossing six shutout innings while striking out 10. Reliever Matt Wyatt allowed just one hit over the final three frames to earn the save and complete the shutout, marking just the third time all season that the Big Orange were held scoreless. Designated hitter Pete Derkay led UT with two hits on the day while starting pitcher Chad Dallas was stuck with the loss after giving up four runs on eight hits in 6.1 innings of work.

Looking to avoid elimination, Tennessee jumped out to an early lead in its loser's bracket game against No. 2 seed Texas. A leadoff single from Drew Gilbert got the Vols' two-run second inning started before a double from Jordan Beck and an RBI groundout from Derkay drove in runs to give the Vols a 2-0 lead.

After the Longhorns responded in the bottom of the second with a three-run homer from Eric Kennedy and added another run in the third to take a 4-2 lead, the Vols evened the score with a pair of RBI singles from Connor Pavolony and Liam Spence in the top of the fourth. The Longhorns regained their lead in the fourth, countering with a three-run inning to take a 7-4 lead that they wouldn't relinquish. Unfortunately, the Big Orange were only able to muster three hits for the remainder of the game against Texas reliever Tanner Witt, who threw 5.2 scoreless innings to improve to 5-0 on the year.

Despite a disappointing early exit from the CWS, the Vols' 2021 season was certainly a special one. Tennessee finished the season ranked as high as No. 5 nationally and had a handful of record-breaking performances that will be remembered for years to come.

Tennessee returned to Omaha for the second time in three years in 2023 despite having to go on the road for the NCAA Regionals and Super Regionals. The Vols were sent to No. 4 national seed Clemson for regionals, where they defeated the host Tigers once and Charlotte twice to go 3-0 and advance to supers for the third straight year. On the road again, UT bounced back from a Game 1 loss to Southern Miss to win the next two contests to punch their ticket to Omaha.

The Big Orange started their College World Series run with an all SEC matchup against No. 5 national seed LSU. Facing the National Player of the Year and eventual CWS MVP Paul Skenes on the mound, Tennessee struggled to find a rythm offensively and fell behind 5-0 before making a late comeback bid with three runs in the top of the eighth inning to cut the deficit to two. Christian Scott raced home on an RBI single by Maui Ahuna to get the Vols on the board before Hunter Ensley homered to left-center field to make it 5-3. Unfortunately, the Tigers added an extra insurance run in the bottom of the eighth to hold off UT's late charge and win 6-3.

Facing elimination and staring at the possibility of another 0-2 showing in Omaha, the Vols rallied from an early 4-0 deficit to score six unasnwered runs in a 6-4 victory over No. 8 national seed Stanford to snap a six-game skid at the CWS. Reliever Chase Burns was nearly unhittable in six shutout innings out of the bullpen, retiring 18 of the 20 batters he faced, including the final 10 Cardinal hitters in order to end the game. The sophomore flame thrower allowed just two hits and did not issue a walk while finishing with nine strikeouts, tying Todd Helton for the most punchouts in a CWS game in program history.

Following the win over Stanford, the Vols squared off with LSU once again, marking the fifth meeting between the two programs that season. Despite an excellent pitching performance from sophomore starter Drew Beam, who held the powerful Tigers' lineup to just one run and had nine streikouts in 5.2 innings, UT was never able to get the bats going in a 5-0 loss to end the season. Maui Ahuna was the only Vol with multiple hits on the night, finishing 2-for-4 with a double from the leadoff spot to extend his hitting streak to six games to end the year. Jared Dickey, Griffin Merritt, Christian Moore and Blake Burke all had one hit as well for the Big Orange.

TENNESSEE'S ALL-TIME DRAFT BREAKDOWN

Since the Major League Baseball free-agent draft began in 1965, the University of Tennessee has seen 141 players drafted 155 times. In addition, numerous more Vols have signed free-agent contracts with professional clubs (both Major League and independent-league teams) to bring the total to 180 UT players that have moved on to the pro ranks.

Of the 161 draft picks, 64 have gone in the top-10 rounds (39.8 percent) and 112 have been picked in the top-19 rounds (69.6 percent).

VOLS ON TEAM USA

Red, white and blue. And orange.

Since 1993, numerous Tennessee Volunteers have become integral members for the USA Baseball National Team, representing UT and the Stars and Stripes nearly annually in the tryout process and in international competition. Overall, 27 Vols have either played for Team USA or been invited to tryouts.

RHP Drew Beam and INF Christian Moore both made the roster for the 2023 USA Baseball Collegiate National Team. Beam also tried out for the CNT in 2022 while OF Drew Gilbert and RHP Blade Tidwell were both members on the 2021 CNT.

Following the 2019 season, LHP Garrett Crochet was invited to the USA Baseball Collegiate National Team training camp.

In 2016, former Tennessee head coach Dave Serrano was initially named as pitching coach for his third USA Baseball coaching staff, joining Manager and Oregon head coach George Horton on the 2016 Collegiate National Team, but did not travel with the team.

Also in 2016, Vol lefty Zach Warren accepted an invitation to the CNT and traveled to Taiwan with the team, making three relief appearances before returning to Rocky Top in July.

In 2014, outfielder Christin Stewart became Tennessee's representative for Team USA and made it a breakout summer, helping the CNT to a gold medal win in the Netherlands at Haarlem-Honkbal Week. Stewart led USA in multiple offensive categories, including batting (.383), hits (31) and doubles (12). His 16 RBI ranked second-best on the team, while he also earned 'Best Hitter' merits during the squad's gold medal performance in the Netherlands.

Two years prior, Serrano was awarded the honor of serving as the head coach of the 2012 USA Baseball Collegiate National Team which he led to a 12-5 record and a bronze medal at Honkbal Week in the Netherlands.

After opening its training with 10 days in North Carolina where it played a selection of collegiate summer teams and participated in the second annual Prospect Classic with the USA Baseball 18U squad, Serrano then led the CNT into uncharted territory as it became the first U.S. squad to travel to Cuba to take on its national team in 16 years.

An alternate on the 2012 squad, Zack Godley was with the team during the training portion of its tour in North Carolina. The Bamberg, S.C., native appeared in four games for Team USA, going 1-0 with a 1.50 ERA and striking out eight in just 6.0 innings of work.

Despite playing a veteran Cuban squad which featured 12 players who have competed in the World Baseball Classic and four who have done so twice, the Collegiate National Team proved its mettle by bookending the five-game series at Latin American Stadium in Havana with victories. That series would continue in the Netherlands where they split two more decisions as the U.S. went 5-2 during Honkbal Week to claim the bronze.

In 2010, Blake Forsythe completed a stint with the USA CNT where he hit at a .293 clip with a pair of home runs and nine RBIs. He also walked 21 times in as many games, en route to an impressive .500 on-base percentage.

Former Tennessee Head Coach Dave Serrano and VFL Zack Godley were both part of the 2012 USA Baseball Collegiate National Team

In 2008, freshman All-Americans Kentrail Davis and Bryan Morgado were invited to tryout for the national team. Davis made the squad for the first time after leading the team in nine different offensive categories during the 2008 National Team Trials. The freshman hit .450 with 11 runs, six homers, 19 RBI, a .925 slugging percentage and a .542 on-base percentage.

UT sent three Vols to tryouts for the national team in the summer of 2006. Sophomore Tony Delmonico earned an invitation after a banner freshman campaign, and he was joined by juniors J.P. Arencibia and Julio Borbon.

Arencibia made the team for the second consecutive year, and Borbon made the squad in his first time after earning his first invitation to the trials.

Arencibia split time at catcher and designated hitter during his second stint with Team USA, hitting .306 and leading the team with 21 extra-base hits and nine home runs during the 31-game exhibition schedule. The All-SEC performer was equally impressive in his first stint with the squad, joining the 2005 team just days after Tennessee's elimination from the College World Series and leading the American squad in batting average (.404), hits (23), RBIs (12), total bases (33) and slugging percentage (.579) while helping it to a 16-4 overall record.

Borbon led the 2006 team with 44 hits and 15 stolen bases while hitting .364 for Team USA. The outfielder also blasted four homers and scored a team-high 38 runs to help the squad to a 28-2-1 record over the summer.

Generally, USA Baseball extends offers to the trials to approximately 35-45 of the top collegiate players in the country before paring down the final roster to around 21 athletes. With so few players participating in the process—and with a relatively large number of Vols in the mix over the last 18 years—UT stands out as one of the top sources in the country for the Team USA talent pipeline.

UT's Christin Stewart received 'Best Hitter' honors during Haarlem-Honkbal Wekk in the Netherlands in 2014

Borbon became the ninth Vol—and first UT outfielder—to don the Red, White and Blue, joining Arencibia, Chris Burke, Nick Crowe, R.A. Dickey, Todd Helton, Javi Herrera, Luke Hochevar and Augie Ojeda as Stars and Stripes selections.

First baseman and pitcher Doug Hecker became the first Volunteer to ever try out for Team USA in the Olympic year of 1992. The following year, Helton became the first Vol to play for Team USA as only one of two freshmen on the squad.

Following the 1996 season, three Vols—pitchers Dickey and Ryan Meyers and infielder Ojeda—were all invited to try out for the Olympic team. Meyers was released early in the tryouts, but Tennessee was one of only four schools that sent as many as three players to the Olympic tryouts.

Team USA claimed a bronze medal at the 1996 Olympic Games in Atlanta, and Dickey and Ojeda became the first—and only—baseball Olympians from UT.

Dickey was a three-year member of Team USA (1994-96), while Ojeda joined the team in 1995 as the only non-Division I player to make the team when he played at Cypress (Calif.) College. Dickey and Ojeda were part of the 20-member bronze medal-winning team. Kurt Keene was invited to the 1998 camp and participated in the national trials during the fall of 1997.

Chris Burke made the national team in 2000 as the only SEC player to make the squad. He finished as the second-leading hitter with a .376 average as Team USA won the gold medal at the Honkbal Tournament in The Netherlands. The U.S. finished 27-3-1, setting a Team USA record for best winning percentage that was tied by the 2006 team led by Arencibia and Borbon.

In 2001, freshman catcher Javi Herrera was the only SEC player to make the national team, marking the second straight year Tennessee was represented on the squad.

Also in 2001, signee Nick Crowe played with the Team USA Junior National Team that won the silver medal in Cuba.

Pitcher Luke Hochevar made the 2004 national team and—like Herrera in 2001—was the SEC's lone representative on the squad. Hochevar retired 18 straight batters while pitching seven innings and earning a victory in Team USA's 4-2 victory over Japan in the gold-medal game of the FISU II World University Baseball Championship in Taiwan.

USA Baseball has been operating and selecting the U.S. National Team since the mid-1970s, and the team first came into full fruition at the 1984 Olympic Games in Los Angeles, Calif.

Legendary collegiate and Team USA head coach Rod Dedeaux was instrumental in organizing the first-ever Olympic Baseball Tournament after baseball was given "Demonstration Sport" status in 1984. A total of eight countries took part in the tournament held at Dodger Stadium that year, with Japan capturing the gold medal by defeating the heavily-favored Americans.

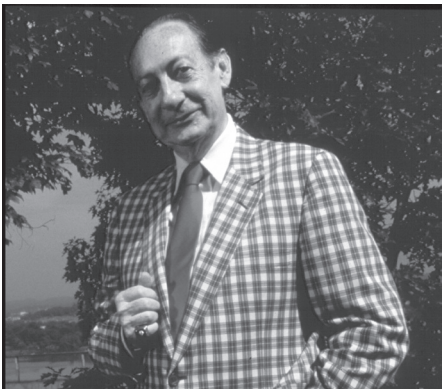
LINDSEY NELSON

The man behind the name of UT's baseball facility



• The University of Tennessee's baseball facility is named in honor of one of the school's most distinguished alums.

• Broadcasting legend Lindsey Nelson, a native of Columbia, Tenn., who passed away June 10, 1995, at age 76, began his storied association with his alma mater in the late 1930s as an undergraduate.

• He served as a student assistant to legendary Tennessee football coach Gen. Robert R. Neyland, started the Vol Radio Network in 1949 and later assumed the post of sports information director in 1951.

• Nelson moved to the national network level in the 1950s, announcing college football and professional baseball for the Liberty Broadcasting Network.

• The staggering list of sporting events broadcast by Nelson on radio and television includes the World Series, the Davis Cup, the Masters, the National Open, the Rose, Cotton and Sugar Bowls, the NFL Championship Game, the NBA Championships and the NIT Tournament.

• His ties to baseball are legendary, as he served as the New York Mets lead broadcaster for 17 seasons and as the voice of the San Francisco Giants for three campaigns.

• He was named National Sportscaster of the Year on five occasions, and has been inducted into no fewer than 12 halls of fame throughout the nation.

• Nelson was inducted into the Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum at Cooperstown, N.Y., in 1988, the New York Mets Hall of Fame at Shea Stadium, the State of New York Sports Hall of Fame, the National Sportscasters and Sportswriters Hall of Fame in Salisbury, N.C., the American Sportscasters Hall of Fame in New York City, the Mutual Broadcasting Hall of Fame in Nashville, the East Tennessee Hall of Fame for the Performing Arts in Knoxville, the College Football Hall of Fame, the Pro Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio, and the LSU Athletic Hall of Fame in Baton Rouge.

LINDSEY NELSON STADIUM

Since its construction in 1992, Lindsey Nelson Stadium has provided the setting for many Volunteer baseball triumphs on the field, but over 20 years of service left the stadium in need of great care and attention. In 2006, the University of Tennessee unveiled the Campaign for Tennessee Baseball, a phased plan that is helping transform Lindsey Nelson Stadium into a premier baseball facility that will enable the Vols to compete at a championship level.

The second of four phases of renovations was completed prior to the beginning of the 2010 campaign. Included was the addition of a new club area and 323 MVP-level seats behind home plate that allow fans to sit closer to the field. Permanent chair-back seating was also added throughout the entire main grandstand, while the façade inside the stadium was faced with brick. In addition, a new batting cage facility, approximately 60 yards in length, was added down the right-field line and the visitor's locker room behind the third-base dugout was renovated.

The first phase, completed prior to the 2009 season, included more than $4 million worth of improvements, primarily to player development areas. Work was finished on a team clubhouse that features a state-of-the art locker room, training room and coaches' office complex. Phase I also included the addition of nearly 1,000 seats down the right-field line, as well as a party plaza, and saw the field surface replaced.

Prior to the 2019 season, a brand new, state-of-the-art turf playing surface was installed by FieldTurf, one of the world leaders in artificial turf. The project not only helped the Vols' baseball program but the community as a whole, with the City of Knoxville and the surrounding community both set to benefit from the new field. Tennessee will now be able to host a series of tournaments that will positively affect commerce, bringing more people to campus and Knoxville. Additionally, the ability to host camps without compromising the playing field will allow the staff to form closer relationships with the baseball community and others around the state of Tennessee. More community service activities and alumni events will now be able to take place on the field as well.

Along with the field conversion, work was also done to the outfield wall, bullpens, batting cages and Tennessee's locker room, increasing its size.

More work was completed to enhance player amenities underneath the stadium during the 2022 offseason. Tennessee's locker room was completely redone, highlighted by the addition of brand new, state-of-the-art lockers for all players. The weight room was also renovated and updated with new flooring and equipment. The program's video analytics and scouting room was updated as well, doubling in size.

Prior to the start of the 2022 season, a second deck of left-field porches was added along with temporary chair-back seating down the left-field line to increase capacity. The MVP Room located underneath the stadium directly behind home plate also underwent a complete renovation that included new floors, furniture, signage, paint and wall graphics to give MVP ticket holders a first-class premium area to visit throughout the game.

LOWER HUDSON FIELD

Thirty-six residential lots fronting Hayes Avenue and Princeton Avenue in the Circle Park Land Company's addition to Knoxville were purchased as a block in April 1937 by the University of Tennessee from Margaret H. and Henry Hudson for $13,000, principally to provide practice fields and a baseball diamond, but also to serve as a drill field for ROTC to ensure UT would not lose its ROTC program because of a lack of a place to drill.

Called Lower Hudson Field after the 1941 purchase of additional land from the Hudsons, it became the new baseball diamond for the intercollegiate baseball team, being dedicated April 11, 1951. This is now the site of modern-day Lindsey Nelson Stadium.

Upper Hudson Field was purchased in 1941 for $6,500. It underwent a face lift in the summer of 1987 because of the planned construction of the Neyland-Thompson Sports Center. Prior to the 1987 reshaping, Upper Hudson had a 70-yard field and an 80-yard field, along with a drill area of about 80 yards. Following the reshaping, Upper Hudson had one 70-yard field, one 80-yard field and a drill area of about 35 yards.

STADIUM INFORMATION

- Lower Hudson Field played host to the first home night game in program history on April 9, 1987 when the Vols hosted in-state foe Austin Peay.
- The first game played at Lower Hudson Field was a 2-1 victory over Georgia Tech on April 12, 1951 in front of a crowd of 5,000 people.

Today, Upper Hudson Field is now Haslam Field, the training site of the Tennessee football team in between Lindsey Nelson Stadium and the Anderson Training Center.

The field was originally without lights, which came on for the first time on April 9, 1987. Along with the new lighting fixtures came a new outfield wall at Lower Hudson Field.

Tennessee plays host to Austin Peay in the first night game at Lower Hudson Field on April 9, 1987.

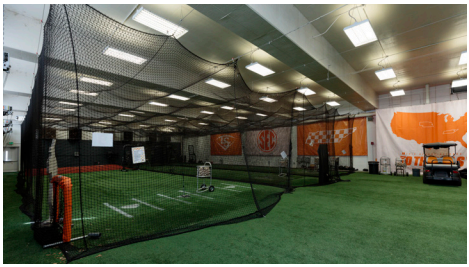
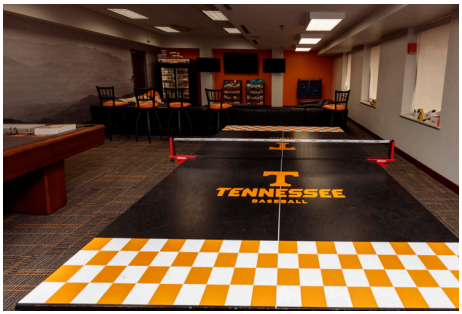
- Approximately 60 yards in length, it features five full-size hitting cages and another area with dustless pitching mounds for up to three pitchers.





TEAM & FILM ROOMS

- Getting a facelift in Tennessee's most recent renovations, the team room serves as a place for student-athletes to relax and unwind with four televisions, a ping pong table, a pool table, leather couches and a snack bar. The room also features tables ideal for studying.
